EXPOSITIONS.

Incidents and Accidents in and About Yale.

In summer's broken backbone the deepest interest takes. For he knows it is a symptom that we'll soon have buckwheat cakes.

Lightner's hair dye for sale by McKenna & Lennon.

John Black has been very sick this week with pleurisy.

Pay a year in advance for the YALE EXPOSITOR and get the Michigan Farmer for only 50 cents.

John Sexton and family have moved into the American House. Mr. Conlin and family moved out last week.

McKenna & Lennon are on hand with a change of adv. this week. Be sure and read what they have to say.

An additional stock of ladies coats have just arrived at Mrs. J. C. Holden's. Do not forget the place, Holden & McNair's store.

It would not be out of place at the present time to mention the fact that THE EXPOSITOR publisher would not refuse a load of wood on subscription. Those who made promises last year will have a chance to fulfill them this fall.

Andrew Spring has bills out announcing a sale of farm stock and implements to be held at his farm in Section 12, Greenwood, one mile east of East Greenwood on Saturday, October 6th. Sale to commence at twelve o'clock m. Sandy McDonald, auctioneer.

THE YALE EXPOSITOR and Michigan Farmer, one year, only $1.50.

Everybody says that Mrs. J. C. Holden's trimmed hats are the nicest and cheapest in town.

Peptogenine, the great remedy for dyspepsia can be had at the drug store of McKenna & Lennon.

L. Higer & Sons, leading clothiers of Port Huron have some facts for EXPOSITOR readers in a change of adv.

J. A. Davidson & Co. have a change of advertisement in which they offer special prices on crockery, carpets and wall paper.

The YALE EXPOSITOR has a new head. The same old head that has made it one of the best papers in the county, will continue to run it, however. —Memphis Bee. Thanks.

Postmaster Lutz met with quite a painful accident one day this week by stepping on a nail which penetrated his foot. It is hoped nothing serious will result from the wound.

H. G. White handed us a couple of tomatoes this week picked from the vines in his garden. They are of enormous size, one weighing 1 1/2 pounds, the other 2 pounds, and are of a very fine flavor.

A pleasant evening may be spent next Sunday evening in brick chapel at the weekly song service. A new program is being prepared that will be interesting. All are invited and welcome.

Rev. Ira Billman has been engaged to supply the pulpit of the Christian church in Saginaw during this month. Mr. Billman is a very able expounder of Bible truths and will no doubt interest his hearers.

This week a fifty pond foot of small pica was added to the EXPOSITOR's job department. Attorneys and others who have supreme court briefs or records to be printed will bear in mind we are prepared to do such work.

W. H. Ballentine is now located in his large double store in the Doelle Block and have a large and excellent stock of general merchandise. His bargains draw the immense trade he is enjoying. Read his change of adv.

Dr. Warner Cornell, of the firm of Drs. Warner & E. A. Cornell, eye, ear, nose and throat specialists of 111 Huron Ave., Port Huron, will be at the Rapley House on the last Friday of each month. His next visit will be Friday, October 26th.

A man may buy, and a man may lie, and a man may puff and blow; but he can't get trade by sitting in the shade, waiting for business to grow. Remember that the United States mint is the only business place that can make money without advertising.

As a couple of Lynn's worthy (?) young men were running horses on Sunday last one of the horses ran into a hog in the road and stumbling fell to the ground, severely injuring both horse and rider. Fortunately the hog was not hurt for it was keeping the Sabbath.

George W. Bell, auctioneer, will sell for James E. Lutz administrator of the estate of the late Stephen H. Beadle at the farm in section 1, township of Brockway, 2 1/2 miles north-east of Yale, on Thursday, October 11, all the stock, farm implements, etc. Sale to commence at one o'clock p. m. sharp.

The pulpit at the Disciple church next Sunday will, in the absence of the pastor, R. B. Brown, be occupied both morning and evening by Rev. F. G. Westphal, of Port Huron. Mr. Westphal will speak on "Sabbath school work and workers" in the morning and "Consecration" in the evening. Presbyterians and all others cordially invited.

Mark Brown, of Saginaw, traveling agent for the well known drug firm of Hazeltine & Perkins, of Grand Rapids, was in Yale on Tuesday. Mark is one of those genial, good hearted persons whom one likes to meet and has many friends here and in surrounding towns. He is a good salesman and makes regular trips to this place about every three weeks. The drug firm for whom he travels are lucky in securing the services of one so popular with the trade.

Levis Armstrong has just purchased the Darcy property on corner of Main and Mechanic streets and moved there in this week. John Baxter is occupying the rear part of the lower floor with his wood-working shop. Lew has had a very large trade in the blacksmith business since he moved here from Old Brockway about three years ago and he is now in a location where a much larger business will come to him. No citizen in Yale deserves to prosper more than Lew for he is honest, industrious and a pleasant gentleman to meet. May increased prosperity be his in the EXPOSITOR's wish.

On Wednesday we drove over to Capac to visit the fair and were amply rewarded in all respects, except in that of seeing the balloon "go up," which said balloon seems to have a propensity this year of clinging to Mother Earth rather than risking precious lives. The day was beautiful although windy. A nice new floral hall has been built this year and was well filled with fine displays of ladies needle work, etc. The vegetable hall was another attraction. The show of poultry was excellent and that of sheep and swine, the exhibition of cattle and horses not so large. The grand stand was crowded and two bands made things lively. Locke's show was on the ground and gave good exhibitions. The crowd was immense and altogether the Capac fair can be pronounced a thorough success this year.

Tuesday evening, as the train for Port Huron was near the Richardson crossing between Melvin and Yale, the fireman of the engine went to see how the water was holding out in the tank when he discovered two young lads stealing a ride on the tender. On seeing him approach one of the boys jumped off. The train was going at the rate of about 45 miles an hour. The trainmen reported the circumstance at the station here and a hand-car, manned by some of Yale's citizens was run up to the crossing where the boy was found and brought to the Hotel de Martin. Dr. Wight was called and he found the boy's right leg broken below the knee and several scalp wounds. The injured boy's name is Henry Dickman and the other little fellow's name is Tommie Robinson, both about 11 years of age. It seems they left their home at Brown City that day and were on their way to Port Huron when the accident happened. The only wonder to everybody is how he escaped instant death.

OUR GREATEST OFFER.

The Yale Expositor and Michigan Farmer One Year, Only $1.50.

Since establishing THE YALE EXPOSITOR, nearly thirteen years ago, we have given our readers many opportunities of securing the leading papers of the country along with ours at merely nominal rates. But this year we have been enabled to make an exceptionally favorable arrangement with the management of the Michigan Farmer, by which we are enabled to offer the two combined for only $1.50. No other offer equals this. All the news of St. Clair county for the year and all the agricultural news of the state, in a great 16-page weekly, for the same time. Let new and old subscribers roll in their subscriptions at once and take advantage of our unparalleled offer.

Echoes From the Castle of Knowledge.

Edward Andrew, Editor.

Who had that pretty face and how did he get it?

Anna Brown is reviewing some of her old studies in the ninth and tenth grades.

Maude Grandy and Florence Reals are new scholars in the Professor's room.

Nellie Hehner was absent Monday.

Myria Wilson was absent Friday.

On account of the fair school began at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning and closed at 11. No school in the afternoon.

School was not very largely attended Thursday. Cause—fair and examination. It was better on Friday.

Obituary.

Died, at Bay City, Wednesday, Sept. 26, at 1:30 o'clock a. m., Miss Sadie Carles, of the township of Brockway, aged 22 years.

On the preceding Wednesday she was taken with what seemed to be a bilious trouble, which was not considered serious, especially by herself, and she persisted in refusing to call a physician until the following Monday forenoon. At this time there were symptoms of malarial fever, but the physician did not consider it a serious case and thought it would soon be overcome. At this time her mother was sent for and on Tuesday morning she took the train for Bay City. The disease had then taken the form of congestion of the brain, her mind wandered, and for four hours before her death she was unconscious. Before this change came she was exercised on the subject of salvation, a minister of the gospel was called, and after conversation and prayer, she said she was trusting in Jesus, and was ready to go. Her body was brought to her father's Wednesday evening. A short service had been held in Bay City, conducted by Rev. C. H. Irvin, of the Baptist church, the minister who had visited her during her sickness. Her funeral service was held at her home on Friday, at 11 a. m., conducted by Rev. J. H. Paton, of Almont. He offered consolation and hope to the bereaved friends from the words of Jesus, recorded in Matt. v. 4, "Blessed are they that mourn, for they shall be comforted." Several familiar hymns were sung, the last of which was chosen by the friends, "There is a gate that stands ajar."

"There is a gate that stands ajar," of sympathizing friends; and all that was earthly of this young person, so prematurely cut down, was laid away in the Brockway cemetery amid a profusion of beautiful flowers—bright tokens of the better land where death shall never enter—where life shall be victorious. Let us take comfort from the words of the poet:

"Life is ever Lord of death,
And love can never lose its own."

Card of Thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carless would hereby express their heartfelt thanks for all the loving sympathy and kind services of their friends and neighbors on the occasion of the funeral of their daughter, Sadie. Special mention is due to those who brought the beautiful floral offerings, and to the choir from Yale who conducted the singing. May all others be as kindly dealt with in their time of bereavement.

Strayed.—Came to the enclosure of the undersigned one mile north of Yale, on or about September 20, 1894, 3 calves. The owner will please call, prove property, pay charges and take away. 21-4 H. G. Ewell.

Mrs. Thomas Abbott, living in Greenwood, 1 1/2 north and 1 1/2 miles west of Fargo, having rented her farm will offer for sale by public auction at the premises on Wednesday, October 10th, 1894, commencing at 2 o'clock sharp, all her farm stock, implements, etc. Geo. W. Bell, auctioneer.

Will B. Saville, painter and decorator, has been more than rushed with work for the past six months, in fact he has been compelled to add another man to his force, C. W. Hanna, of Port Huron. Will finished a neat and tasty job of painting and paper hanging in W. H. Ballentine's new double store during the last month also for Aaron Windsor the barber, and has been at work in Brown City this week. The reason for his rush of work is because he is an artistic workman and Yale citizens want the best.

The greatest mistakes of advertising occur in the country papers, and probably the greatest lack of faith in advertising is among the country retailers. Here is a great mistake. The farmer is always a reader of "adv" because he never takes more than two papers, and one of these is generally the local paper. If, then, instead of advertising in the most prosaic manner that Brown & Jones have a stock of dry goods, groceries and boots and shoes to sell, the farmer would take one thing out of the stock and give prominence, changing the advertisement weekly, and paying the printer enough to make it profitable for him to make the changes, then country advertising would pay, and the merchant would see it for himself in the inquiries that would surely follow for the article advertised.
